ANNABEL

Jesus Christ. That might be the most fucked thing I ever heard in my life.

The laughter peters out... eventually.

RUTH

You girls have been comin' here for a long time. It's been my life's work hosting girls like you. Girls from all different families and places in life that needed help with a problem. So many girls-women walked in and out of those doors. You guys, you're my most special cause you're last. You Annabel, you're my very last. And, you all mean very much to me. And I wanted to have you over one last time to tell you that.

ANNABEL

Last time?

LANE

What are you talkin' about?

MOIRA

Ruth!

RUTH

I hate to be the one to break it to ya but you're all gonna wake up tomorrow and things are gonna be different.

LANE

What are you talking about? What? You mean the election?

MOIRA

Oh come on Ruth, it's just another election. Not like they've ever changed anything anyway.

RUTH

This one's different. People you thought you knew, you're gonna realize, you never really did. It's gonna surprise you who it is. It's gonna surprise you a lot.

(MORE)

RUTH (cont'd)

You're gonna go to the store tomorrow, you're gonna catch people's eyes and you're gonna wonder what side they're on. That's part of what's gonna be the difference, there's gonna be sides.

LANE

There's always been sides.

RUTH

Not the kind that keep good people apart.

MOIRA

We've been through everything together!

RUTH

Doesn't matter.

ANNABEL

We're different. We're not like them.

RUTH

People always want to think their different, but they're not. We're not.

ANNABEL

How can you say that?! That's crazy! Nothing's going to happen to us! Why are you doing this?!

EMMA

Ruth?

There is a silence. Ruth eventually looks up and straight at Lane.

LANE

Because I voted for him.

ANNABEL

What? No you didn't Why? How could you?

MOIRA

So did I. So what? I'm tired of all these rich fucks. No offense Lane.

EMMA

This is not happening. This is not happening.

The room falls silent for a long time.

ANNABEL

You really think he can win?

Ruth picks up her phone and shows the girls.

RUTH

He already has.
